Delicious Vietnamese food and nourishing clean eating are spotlighted as Fusion Maia Da Nang recognized as the best of the best in the Conde Nast Traveller Spa Awards 2018 receiving the award for Best Clean Food Fix. Quoted as “A gastronomic haven at the vanguard of clean eating”

By scoring a coveted spot as ‘the best of the best’ in The Condé Nast Traveller Spa Awards 2018, Thailand and Bali may have long held center stage when it comes to spa getaways in Asia but there’s now a new frontrunner - Vietnam. Not only was it the only spa destination in Asia to make the cut, it was the only place chosen outside of Europe.

“What’s not to love about Vietnamese Food” says Michelle Ford, General Manager “Ingredients are vibrant, bursting with natural flavours and fresh from the local markets. It naturally inspired us to create pretty and delicious food that cares about your health.”

The resort’s vibrant buffet breakfast at Five, inspired by the five elements, caters to everyone from vegans after more than just a salad to guests wanting a hearty, indulgent meal. Most items are homemade from the various nut butters and yoghurts to the dehydrated fruit and gluten-free options like chia seed bread. They also have 40 different food sprinkles to incorporate an element of play into each meal, with options like paprika vegan parmesan.

You can opt for vegan, raw food or a juice cleanse, or just enjoy the light and easy menus which already incorporate a lot of healthy options.

“Chef Dung, aptly pronounced ‘Yum’ in Vietnamese, has been at Fusion Maia since opening 8 years ago as Executive Chef at Fusion Maia puts a lot of love into his food”, says Michelle “He makes a lot of homemade items from nut milks, to coconut yoghurt, gluten free chia seed loaf to dehydrating local fruits from scratch and also incorporates playful elements like our selection of about 40 food sprinkles at breakfast such as spirulina gomashio or sunflower-rose” All using local and fresh ingredients such as turmeric, ginger, lemongrass, bean sprouts or the herbs from the in house hydroponic garden abundantly. You can complement them with on-trend green juice, turmeric superfood latte, a bullet coffee or an glass of organic wine.
